

Am I a Mentor Mom?

You were asked to be a Mentor Mom because . . .

- You have an imperfect family, but you know and serve a perfect Savior!
- You have made at least one mistake, probably more than once, but you know how to ask for forgiveness!
- You have launched a child into those high school years or beyond and found yourself praying for his or her safety and your sanity on more than one occasion!
- You probably have more than one gray hair that signifies wisdom (or the drug store is out of your hair color or you haven't had time to get to the hairdresser)!
- You have a wealth of knowledge that could only be gained through dark hours of suffering.
- You have a willingness to share what the Lord has taught you through that suffering and pain.
- You have been known to let Jesus' love flow from your life and touch many other lives—while you weren't looking!
- You have many around you who want to learn from you all that you are willing to share from your life experiences, and more importantly, to learn who Christ is and what it means to you to have a personal relationship with Him!

If one mom's eternal destiny is changed as a result of God choosing to work through you, anything is possible! "With God all things are possible" (Matthew 19:26, HCSB).
